DAHLONEGA, Nov. 1, 1895.

Frank Jones is sick with fever.

Jury list will appear in our next.

The 'possum hunter's horn is now heard in the distant wood.

Will Tate will be a candidate for ordinary.

See Grand Jury presentments in this issue.

You will find full court proceedings in another column.

Mr. Fisher has opened his picture gallery at his old stand.

Capt. Ing'rool is still feeding his thanks-giving turkey.

DIAMOND Dyes, all shades, Log-wood and Indigo, to make your old coat new, at the DRUG STORE.

New corn is now bringing 40 cts. per bushel in Dahlonega.

Music and sweet songs give cheer to the wayward traveler.

We will take home-made syrup on subscription and would like to get a few gallons immediately.

Dr. Wheeler was called to Mrs. Jim Huff, who swallowed a pin Wednesday.

The ladies can avoid the "chaps" and rough-skin by using a little cold cream or emulsion, found at the DRUG STORE.

Mr. O. G. Brown has been awarded the contract to repair the iron bridge at Leathers' ford for $250.00.

There is a general complaint of low water by the miners and mining operations are not altogether active.

Mr. Cartledge is receiving his large stock of fall and winter MILLINERY. Come early for your selections before the pretties are gone.

Mr. Frank W. Hall has purchased the A. A. Hope place and will commence to repair it early next year.

It will be seen in the Grand Jury presentments that the Finance committee report of the paupers' farm is very poor.

The recent camp-meeting of the colored folks has proven to be very beneficial to the Soldiers' County and also to a few of the county officers.

Notice the time marks on the wrapper of your paper. If your time is up, renew at once. We do not send papers to subscribers out of the county without advanced pay.

Sheriff Brown of White County was in the city last week. He is one of those "good-sheriffs" fellows, and he is the hardest man to defeat in a sheriff race in this country.

Our little Nettie has been sick for several days. The report that she had scarlet fever was erroneous. With the skillful treatment of Dr. Jones she will be able to join her class in school Monday.

Not a drop of the liquor seized at the recent colored folks' camp-meeting was produced in court as evidence against the defendants who had it there. Quite likely the jugs were left open and it all evaporated.

Judge Kinsey last week appointed B. F. Satterfield Jury commissioner, to fill the place of Wash Walker whose time had expired. Mr. Satterfield is a Republican and now each party is represented in the board of revisors.

There was a mistrial in the Green case and now Green will have to be content in jail until the spring term of court. Eleven of the jurors agreed to a verdict, while one of their number could not see as the others saw it, hence a mistrial was announced. This is somewhat unfortunate to the taxpayers of the county.

"Uncle" Allen Myers, colored, makes a very different camp-meeting guard. At the recent camp-meeting of the negroes while the various officers were seizing vessels filled with whiskey, "Uncle" Allen captured a jug, which he thought (and evidently did) contained liquor; but to his sad surprise, upon examination, he found that it was only a jug of butter-milk which had been secreted to be used in bread-baking by some of the tenters.

Thirty-five true bills were found by the Grand Jury last week.

Minor Fitts was on the street last week in a crippled condition. Rheumatism is the cause.

The Bearden bridge only cost the county about three hundred dollars to be replaced.

The next time a fellow comes up to us and says, "How are you, Capt. Hall?" we shall tell Mr. Hall of it.

Mr. John Jenkins is preparing to erect a new residence on his property near Mechanicsville.

A little child of James Phillips died Friday last. Whooping-cough and teething was the cause of his death.

Mrs. W. H. Cook has returned home, after an extended visit to her daughter, Mrs. Durrell, of Toocoolie.

Billie Park's lecture at the college last week, for the benefit of the young ladies hall, was a success.

We missed Col. Price very much last week, but thinking for a moment that he had gone to Atlanta to take his place in the Legislature.

Exposure to cold, damp winds, may result in pneumonia unless the system is kept invigorated with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Major Ballard who was appointed to take charge of the Military science and French department of the college is here and has entered upon his duties at that capacity.

Mr. G. C. Wallace will soon move his family from Jay, and will occupy the Webb house at this place.

Last week we made an effort to give our readers a newspaper paper, which was appreciated; but we think the present issue is a better one.

W. H. Satterfield, Reg., has a big case on hand. He was recognized as Lewis Brady recently. We can't say where this thing will end, nor which of the gentlemen are most aggrieved.

The Grand Jury failed to find a true-bill against Nelsa Hawshaw, colored, who was confined in jail charged with having stolen a watch from a negro named Joe Longstreet.

Judge W. A. Reeves of White County, ex-senator of this district, is all O. K. He wants this paper to continue its annual visits to him. The Judge has been taking the SIGNAL ever since we can remember.

We have been telling you all the time that our streets were in a bad condition. So says the Grand Jury, and the Mayor and Council, as well as the commissioners throughout the county, will have to make a proper showing at the next term of the court.

Mr. A. W. Meaders has declined to accept the position assigned him to teach the public school in the college "green" house. He has a more lucrative situation at Watkinsville. The place is open for some one else.

The first load of pumpkins have arrived, but Brother McNelly got them for one year's subscription. He is now uniting for active work and as he has a sumptuous amount of this luxurious fruit product made into custards, he will possibly get fat.

Mrs. Florence Howard was adjudged insane and is now in the asylum. She was accompanied by Mrs. Jane Rice and cash. Satterfield. This news comes with sadness to the many friends of the family.

Our old friend, W. R. Davis of Washington, D. C., has our thanks for a copy of the "List of Field Officers of Regiments and Battalions of the Confederate States Army, '61-'65." We appreciate this work, and will give it a particular place among our books and periodicals.

Mr. Gladson was buried at Jones' chapel by the side of many relatives, who have long since expired.

There is a gang of crows which feed and roost about Crown mound, numbering five hundred or more in the covey. They darken the walkin wherever they fly, and it is amazing to see them sailing along of mornings and to hear their continual chirps.

Two of Dahlonega's colored citizens, Frank Lowery and Sam Good, have been tendered positions at the Capitol in Atlanta for twenty-five days each. Frank closed his shop doors and left for the city, while Sam holds fast to his permanent job here in Dahlonega. This is their reward for services rendered in the democratic campaign during the last election.

The Grand Jury last week recommended that the present Legislature pass a bill for the appointment of a Board of roads and revenues for Lumpkin county. This will hardly be done as the law requires all local business to be introduced to be advertised four weeks. After this is done and the members all take in the exposition the Legislature will adjourn.

Many of the women and children of Dahlonega, and others, are signing a petition asking the Legislature to pass the anti-bar-room bill. We heard a gentleman, who by this week is in the city, that he is not used in Sunday schools, because his wife had entered his name on the list without his consent, and it might be well to remark that this man does not use a drop of liquor.

YOU CAN BELIEVE

The testimonies published in behalf of Hood's Sarsaparilla. They are written by honest people, who have actually found in their own experience that Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, cures all appetite, strengthens the system, and absolutely and permanently cures all diseases caused by impure or deficient blood.

HOOD'S PILLS for the liver and bowels, act promptly, easily and effectively.

Mr. Walden, a member of the legislature who was here last week to look after the charge against his son who was in college, was present at the Board of Trustees of the college Saturday evening. It was held before the Board found out that he was a Populist of the first type. He is a man of excellent ability, a good talker, a pleasant gentleman, and there seems to be a very tender feeling towards him lurking in our bosom, all on account of what we have told you.

The full term of Lumpkin Superior court closed Saturday, and it was a session of marked interest. Never have we sit and experienced by any Judge the dispatch of business as was observed by court attendants at this term. Judge Kinsey's actions in each and every case caused the lawyers to look diligently to and to hold an eye to business. There were more cases disposed of in the same length of time than at any previous court in twenty years.

It has been a harvest for court officers, especially the state's attorney, who went away to his home with well-filled pockets from the results of crimes committed by evil doers.

Death of Mrs. Gladson.

Mrs. Nancy Gladson, known by our people as a life resident of this county, died the 24th day of Oct., 1895, in the 65th year of her age. The attack that caused her demise was sudden and paralysis was the cause.

She was the widow of Alex. Gladson, who went to California in the fifties and never returned.

Her maiden name was Ray, and is the last survivor of her father's family, all of whom having died of consumption.

She was the mother of Mrs. Jane Rice, her only living child. Her son, Bob, died in the United States Army, and she drew a pension from the general government.

Mrs. Gladson was buried at Jones' chapel by the side of many relatives, who have long since expired.

Notice of Special Legislation.

Notice is hereby given that at the present session of the Legislature of Georgia a bill will be introduced with the following title, to-wit:

A bill to be entitled, "An Act for the relief of the North Georgia Agricultural College; to prevent the expropriation of its property by reason of the expiration of its charter; to clothe it with all powers, and rights, and subject it to all debts and liabilities and burdens of the old corporation of the same name which is now revived."

Oct. 26, '95. It.

Notice of Local Legislation.

Notice is hereby given that at the present session of the Legislature of Georgia a bill will be introduced with the following title, to-wit:

A bill to be entitled, "An Act to authorize and empower the Mayor and Council of the Town of Dahlonega, Georgia, to grant to any railroad the use of any of the streets of said town for railroad tracks, rights of way, depot or yard purposes or other use in the discretion of said Mayor and Council."

Oct. 26, '95. It.

Last week we mentioned that a student, Mr. K. Walden, had been confined in jail on a serious charge. The good citizens of Dahlonega made head for him. His father who is a member of the legislature from Clinch county, was sent for and on Saturday the young man was before the bar of justice for trial, W. A. Charters representing him. We were present and heard the testimony of every witness and it was a confidential conclusion that not a spark of evidence was against Mr. Walden, and at the conclusion of the statements of the testifies no speech of defence was necessary. However, after an eloquent address by Colonel Charters, the jury proceeded to try the room, and in a few minutes only they returned and announced a verdict of acquittal. Mr. Walden stands fully exonerated from having committed any crime, and his father returned to the legislature, carrying with him testimonies from the court and Board of Trustees to this effect.

They Didn't Take the Paper.

An exchange says that a county superintendent in a neighboring county recently asked every teacher or in the county institute who took their local paper, to hold up their hands, and out of about a hundred only six responded, at which he expressed surprise and said:

"You don't spend one dollar a year with these papers, yet you expect them to print free of charge notices of institutes, insert lengthy programs of same, and all through the year, and then expect them to advertise you, and your abilities in your chosen profession, thus assisting you to climb the ladder to high positions and better salaries without a cent's postage in return."

He closed by saying:

"Your condition in this matter would lead me, were I an editor of a paper, to promptly throw into the waste basket any communications sent to me by the society, the members of which are too stingy to take a paper, or if I inserted it, to demand full advertising rates for every line published."

Advertising brings lasting success. The man who advertises from week to week and year to year, if he really has something worth buying, will sell his goods and gather in the dollars, while his neighbor in business who "don't believe in advertising" waits for his customers that never come. The keeping continually at it that pays.

Major Baldwin was in town last Tuesday. The gentleman says so soon as the surveyors ascertain on which side of Walker's mountain the route shall be located that work will soon thereafter commence on the Dahlonega railroad. It will very likely be a couple or three weeks ere the survey is completed.

There is more catch in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catch to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's catch cure, manufactured by J. C. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from ten drops to a teaspoonful. It sets directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer case launders of their for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address, J. C. INFORMATION OF IMPORTANCE

Mr. G. McGuire and family visited the exposition this week.

Mr. O. G. Brown is now engaged repairing the iron bridge at Leathers' ford.

Farmers are getting from twenty-five to thirty cents per gallon for new syrup.

Colonel (charters has been attending the exposition this week. Mrs. Charters also.

Some of Dahlonega's early miners distinguished the earthquake the 24th ult.

The biggest bars of soap, weighing a pound and a quarter, each, at J. F. Moore's a novelty.

We are glad to hear that Alfred Huff who has been dangerously ill is recovering.

A gentleman who was here on a visit from Jackson county lost one of his mules Tuesday.

J. B. Brown left for Jackson county last Thursday, the 4th inst., where he goes to visit relatives.

Jack Magnus was arrested Wednesday on a warrant charging him of abuse to his wife.

A. S. Wheeler and his brother Frank of Hall visited our town this week. Both are farmers of this county.

Mr. Baldwin was here this week. He stated that work would commence on the Dahlonega railroad as soon as the last survey is completed.

Musical goods: Fiddles, banjos, karges, with bells and tremolos, all kinds violin bows, low hair, fiddle pegs, aprons and bridges at Drug-store.

Only two of those handsome 95c. lamps left at Drug-store.

Last week we only published a part of the jury list. Find full list elsewhere.

Martin L. Jones thinks that the editor should not be hard on his old patrons in regard to their subscription, and especially one who has been taking the SIGNAL for more than forty years.

Mr. J. B. Howler has moved his boot and harness shop to his old stand opposite Hunter's barber-shop, where he will be pleased to see his customers when wanting anything in his line.

We regret that we can't give space to some communications this week. Will appear next.

Frank Jones at this writing is still very sick with typhoid fever. Frank is missed behind the counter of Anderson & Jones, and we trust he may soon recover.

The trustees of the college are arranging to place a fine organ in the chapel of the building, to be used in the music department. This will add another commendable feature to the institution.

The popularity of the SIGNAL as a local paper is gratifying to its publisher. There were more articles clipped from its columns by the Atlanta Constitution and the press generally than any other weekly paper in Georgia.

The Sheriff and Constable Wheeler went out into Mill Creek district Saturday night and arrested Will Perry, who is charged with riot. The defendant made bond and he now has something to employ his mind until court convenes next spring.

Col. Farrow came up on the back from Gainesville Saturday evening on his way to Porter Springs. He has been spending a short while at Hapeville, Ga., and other points. The Colonel is looking well and was cordially greeted by his friends here.

Deputy Marshal Harrison has been giving our Choctaw friends some trouble of late. The officer went out there last week and captured a 75-gallon still, and found James H. Sallott preparing to make a run. The fixtures were complete—ten tubs, filled with beer and mash, were destroyed. The violator was brought to town and placed under bond.

The tax-collector commenced his rounds" last week.

See list of Jurors for the spring term of Lumpkin Superior court.

J. M. Brookshire has moved into the Gurley building near Jones & Brookshire's store.

Rev. W. H. McAffee has returned from Macon, where he went to attend the Grand Lodge of masons.

An abundance of sorghum has been made in this county this season and the young folks are enjoying themselves attending candy pullings.

A lady and gentleman passed through Dahlonega in a buggy drawn by an ox the other day. It is supposed that they had just married and were out on their wedding tour.

A fellow who is on the insolvent list was gambling the other day because the jury made a mistrial in the Green murder case, saying it would be so expensive to keep the defendant confined in jail until the next court.

Dahlonega is on a boom in the mercantile line. Three new stores have been opened within less than a month. This is a fair indication of the rail-road coming.

We welcome Mr. Littlefield to our midst who has been residing at Porter Springs for a number of years.

Mr. Stone who has been residing near the cemetery has moved into the building near the old Academy recently vacated by ex-sheriff Brookshire.

Anderson & Jones are the best merchants in town for good goods at lowest prices. They are now selling "specially for cash and barter" and it will pay you to see them when anything is wanting in the general merchandise line.

Handkerchiefs. The only new size for corsets, stays all pairs, making comfort to the feet, makes extra easy. 15c at Drugstore.

Mr. George Satterfield, who is a cousin to ex-sheriff Satterfield, has been here this week, looking up deeds to important property in this county. It is clandestinely whispered that a large sale of valuable mineral lands is on foot of negotiation. Mr. Satterfield is quite a prominent man of Bartow county.

The U. S. Gov't Reports show Royal Baking Powder superior to all others.

Deputy Marshal Harrison arrested Will Douglas last Saturday afternoon and placed him in jail. Douglas is accused of being one among the Union county white-caps who whipped Albert Phillips so severely some time ago.

The time for registering in Dahlonega was up Thursday. Those who failed to act in accordance with the registration law will not get to vote in the municipal election next month.

The surveyors were engaged last Saturday in locating the Dahlonega railroad depot site. They ran the line up to the rock wall near the Clark house and would locate the depot there, provided the company could get the right of way. The country owns a small lot which the ordinary fellows sell at present and the depot will be situated about a half mile from town, near the Griggs' fish pond on a piece of property we believe owned by Gen. Murray, recently purchased from Col. Price.

Mrs. Fannie Hatfield, after having spent several days with her parents in Dahlonega, returned to her home in Hall county Tuesday.

J. H. Moore is now handling the yard-stick with accuracy and dispatch behind the counter of Frank Moore's store. Say, we believe it's illegal for a man to hold two offices" at once.

We are informed that the old Wardworth building located a few miles from town has been converted into a dancing hall and skating rink. Both sexes meet there, dance, drink and skate and have gay times. Presumably there is more skating than dancing when some of them get an over-dose of the "royal tippy."

Catarra can be successfully treated only by purifying the blood with Hood's Sarsaparilla. Be sure to get Hood's.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years, was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hood's sarsaparilla, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure, on the market. It is taken internally in doses from ten drops to a teaspoon full. It sets directly on the blood and mucus surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address, F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio.

Sold by Drug stores, 75c.

A fellow walked all over town Saturday in search of the other woman to pay his subscription, his time having expired some time ago. This must be an indication that the "good times" are almost here. Parties wanting to settle for their paper when in the city will find us here in the office, ready to receipt them.

DANGER FROM CATARRH. The most important feature about the very common complaint, catarrh in the throat, is its tendency to develop into some other more serious and dangerous disease. The foul matter dropping from the head into the bronchial tubes or into the lungs is very little to lead to bronchitis or consumption, that destroyer which causes more deaths in this country than any other disease. As catarrh originates in impurities in the blood, local applications can do but little good. The common sense method of treatment is to purify the blood, and for this purpose there is no preparation superior to Hood's Sarsaparilla. The powerful action of this medicine upon the blood expels every impurity, and by so doing cures catarrh, and gives good health to the entire organism.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

Commissioner Nesbitt's Question Box For the Month.

INFORMATION OF IMPORTANCE.

The Best Time to Sow Hungarian Grass and Some of the Penitential-Treats on Wheat and Barley—New Profitable to Buy High Grade Fertilizers Than to Invest in Cheaper Qualities.

Question 1.—What is the best time for sowing under penitential-treats? In the autumn? In the spring? Shall I turn them under now or shall I wait until they are fully matured?

Answer 1.—This question has already been discussed at some length in these columns, but we again call attention to the disadvantage of turning under a succulent, green crop at this season. In the first place, the partially matured vines decay much more rapidly than the fully developed plants, and this decay sets up a chemical action which releases nitrogenous products, to be washed away by the winter rains. In the second place, the process is slower, and we are enabled to hold these products in the soil for a longer time to await the demands of the spring crops. Again, the decomposition of a turned under green crop produces an amount of acidity more or less, which is often found injurious to succeeding crops, and while this may be corrected by an application of lime broadcast on the plowed surface, we would strongly advise against the practice of turning a crop simply to rotate it to the soil. Instead, we do not advocate the turning under of any crop without first getting some other benefit from the more improvement of the soil. In the case of peas, the crop can be taken off either in the form of gathered hay or peas, or the stock, hogs, cows and young animals can be turned in to harvest it with great benefit to themselves and little injury to the land, unless in a very wet season. In the treatment of stems and roots we have material almost as valuable, while the loss in the form of cold rotting feed, more than counterbalances the value of the crop taken off. The following experience is pertinent:

"A neighbor who is a very successful gardener gives the result of his observations and experience on this subject. On a small piece of potatoes which he wished to prepare for strawberry plants, was summer, he played down a row of corn, which were turned under a row of corn, and for two years afterward the soil was so 'rich,' heavy and moist that he could not get anything to grow well on it. So much fermenting vegetation in the soil soured and injured its texture very much. On the other hand, he had a crop of corn in a young pear orchard, which, through the press of other work, he neglected to plow under until they became so heavy that they 'rotted,' and then abandoned the intention and left them to rot on the ground. Next spring, on plowing this orchard, he found the land in an admirable condition, as mild and as light as he could desire."

Question 2.—What is the best time to sow Hungarian Grass, and some of the Penitential-Treats on Wheat and Barley?

Answer 2.—It may be sown either in the fall or early spring, but it is best just as it begins to bloom. Like all other crops the better the condition of the soil the better the yield. On poor soils it grows about a foot to two feet and a half high, in more favorable locations and when properly managed it frequently attains a height of from three to four feet. Its underground roots grow much rapidly in light soil, but they also penetrate the stiff clay and form a good soil. At the south it is esteemed more for grazing than for the effects of its roots, but in the north it is valued for its roots, and does not seem to be affected by autumn or extreme changes of temperature. If the land is prepared the same as for other grasses and other conditions are favorable it has been found to succeed where the finer grasses have failed. In our section it remains green through the winter and seasons to be getting ready for winter pastures. The seed should be sown mixed with other varieties as its habit is such as to choke out other vegetation. On this account, a location for its growth. On fields where rotation of crops is practiced its introduction is not desirable as the soil is tough and dense and might prove very troublesome.

Question 3.—Would you advise the buying of a high grade fertilizer at high price, or one of lower grade at least cost?

Answer 3.—All things considered, the high grade fertilizer is cheaper for the farmer. The per cent of plant food in a high grade of fertilizer being larger than in the low grade, and the proportionate freight is therefore less. Also the nitrogen in the high grade goods is usually derived from better material than that in the low grade goods. If, on account of the small quantity of high grade allowed to an acre, there is difficulty in distributing it, mix with it woods earth or any other material, to facilitate its proper application. It is better to furnish this filler and mix at home than to pay the full blast for two weeks past in Middle and upper Georgia, and a larger quantity of syrup will be made than is usual. A good many are not getting the yield they expected, but the average is larger and in the aggregate the yield will be large. Sugar cane grinding has not yet commenced, but the crop is good and there will be plenty of syrup and sugar from that source in the latter half of the season.

POTATOES.
This crop is good all over the state, and if only kept up with proper care, is very early put out. Don't think we really appreciate this valuable food crop, which can be raised so easily and in such quantities. Many farmers still plant the poorer varieties, very deficient in saccharine matter, and therefore neither so palatable nor so fitting as the better varieties.

Let us strive to have the best in everything, not in potatoes only. I think it is easier to raise a Cherokee, or St. Domingo, than a Georgia yam, but after raising the Cherokee, you have a potato that the hogs wouldn't eat, while if you raise a Georgia yam, you have a potato fit for a king's table. Potatoes are good food for all kinds of stock, 3 bushels being equal to 1 of corn in feeding value.

FIELD PEAS.
There has been a larger area than usual sown throughout the state, and the crop of peas is a large one. There are complaints that the peas are small, but this is not true. The peas are large, but have not borne well, but, as a rule, the crop is a good one.

are reported good, and in lower Georgia the fattening hogs are in many places being turned out on them. The crop is planted in this state chiefly to fatten hogs, for which it is admirably adapted. Not many are planted for market, though in our sister states of Pennsylvania and Ohio they are largely cultivated for that purpose. In this area of diversified farming, some of our farmers might find this a profitable crop.

WHEAT.
The crop is generally good all over the state, with more planted than usual. These wheat are generally planted later than before. It is not hard to raise, yields are taken off either in the form of gathered hay or peas, or the stock, hogs, cows and young animals can be turned in to harvest it with great benefit to themselves and little injury to the land, unless in a very wet season. In the treatment of stems and roots we have material almost as valuable, while the loss in the form of cold rotting feed, more than counterbalances the value of the crop taken off. The following experience is pertinent:

Question 9.—You will please answer the following in your monthly report: Why is it that the soil dries more in the latter part of March and the first of the middle of April than in any other season of the year and what are the causes of this?

Answer 9.—There are more clouds because we are preparing the ground at that time for planting, and we plow as deep as possible, bringing up some clay to the surface. This clay then is very apt to bake and form a crust, which breaks up by the action of the atmosphere and future plowings or harrowings. Another reason is that, in our haste to get ready for planting, we sweep up the spring, so that the soil is a little too wet, and this causes clods on the surface.

I do not agree with you that the cotton bolls "rise and less in the spring when it is a little too wet, and this causes clods on the surface." I think if we plowed as deep in the summer, and when the ground was wet, and turned up the clay as we do in the spring, you would have just as many clods and just as much baking of the soil. In other words, our shallow plowing in cultivating crops causes more clods than our deep plowing in the spring.

The above letters are taken from many received by us. P.P.P. (Lippman's Great Remedy) is a medicine whose virtues are known from the Atlantic to the Pacific. P.P.P. begins its work by purifying the blood, which is the source of all life, and does not cease until a perfect and entire cure is effected. The purifying action that disfigures the complexion, the tired feeling that prevents thorough accomplishment of the daily tasks, sleepless nights, loss of appetite, irritability of disposition, all mean a derangement of the system consequent from impure blood, which can and will be cured by P.P.P.

P.P.P. (Lippman's Great Remedy), is conceded by physicians and the people to be the Greatest Blood Purifier of the Age. It positively and permanently cures. For sale by all druggists at 25¢ per bottle, six bottles for $1.50.

THE LEXINGTON BUSINESS COLLEGE, (INCORPORATED)

Once Wrecked. BROKEN IN HEALTH.

New Life can Run and Jump to Health in a Sixteen-year-old Boy. The Best of His Bones of Pink Pills. From the Messenger, Birmingham, N.C.

The following letter from George Russell, a citizen of Laurinburg, N.C., will prove of interest to many of our readers who may be suffering from that dreaded disease—rheumatism.

Laurinburg, N.C., April 3, 1895.
Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady.

Gentlemen:—During the summer of 1888 I had a severe attack of typhoid fever which left my constitution in a weakened and broken condition. Ever afterward I had to be very careful not to get the least damp for if I did an attack of rheumatism would be the result. I was able, however, to attend to business the most of my time though I could never say that I was well, and I was taking a more severe attack of rheumatism which commenced first in the back of my head and neck, then my shoulders became stiff, I suffered untold agonies, could not rest at night, and could not get in position that would give me rest even for a few moments, could not sleep more than 15 minutes at any one time, had no appetite, my flesh was reduced till I could hardly feel my bones, my weight moved down or rather slipped to the small of the back and I was losing my hair. I felt as if I could not walk up the door steps.

About this time I was taken with a shortness of breath which was an access of my heart disease, and I was unable to get up the stairs. I gave up all hopes of getting any better or even living for more than a few months. I wrote many of my friends and told them I did not expect to live, but a very short time. Of course I had been told that I was taking a more severe attack of rheumatism which commenced first in the back of my head and neck, then my shoulders became stiff, I suffered untold agonies, could not rest at night, and could not get in position that would give me rest even for a few moments, could not sleep more than 15 minutes at any one time, had no appetite, my flesh was reduced till I could hardly feel my bones, my weight moved down or rather slipped to the small of the back and I was losing my hair. I felt as if I could not walk up the door steps.

At this time I was taken with a shortness of breath which was an access of my heart disease, and I was unable to get up the stairs. I gave up all hopes of getting any better or even living for more than a few months. I wrote many of my friends and told them I did not expect to live, but a very short time. Of course I had been told that I was taking a more severe attack of rheumatism which commenced first in the back of my head and neck, then my shoulders became stiff, I suffered untold agonies, could not rest at night, and could not get in position that would give me rest even for a few moments, could not sleep more than 15 minutes at any one time, had no appetite, my flesh was reduced till I could hardly feel my bones, my weight moved down or rather slipped to the small of the back and I was losing my hair. I felt as if I could not walk up the door steps.

From Phi-Palaestra.

The Congress of the United States had donated the Mint building, the Secretary of the Treasury had made a deed of conveyance and the Trustees were in possession of the property, but a long time must yet intervene before the money was forthcoming to maintain a college, and under the terms of the act it could only be used for educational purposes. The act of Congress of July 2, 1862, provided for colleges "where the leading objects shall be, without excluding other scientific and classical studies, and including military tactics, to teach such branches of learning as are related to agriculture and mechanic arts." Unless the Trustees received some part of the interest arising from the proceeds of the sale of the Land Scrip, donated to Georgia for that purpose, which had been sold by Gov. Conly in January, 1871, (and from which the State only derived 90 cents per acre, or in round numbers, $243,000,) it was impossible to maintain such a school and the donation of the building by Congress, would prove entirely worthless.

I had little idea that the contest over this matter before the General Assembly of Georgia, the Governor, committees of both houses and Agricultural conventions, would last for nearly two years, requiring almost incessant attention and watchful vigilance. But it so turned out that the struggle in the National legislature to secure the building was by no means so arduous or serious as the warfare that occurred in Georgia over the disposition of the Agricultural College Scrip Fund.

Gov. Jas. M. Smith, under a mistaken view of law, and without legal authority, had by and Executive order turned over the whole of the proceeds to the University of Georgia. This was on March 30, 1872, and was done by Governor Smith, for fear that unless the State of Georgia disposed of the fund before the 31 day of July, 1872, the whole amount would lapse and become forfeited to the General Government. There was an act of Congress which required all the States which had acquired the Scrip to provide one or more colleges within ten years after the original act was passed. Gov. Smith had not been advised, so he informed the writer, that Congress had extended the time for the benefit principally of the Southern States whose state governments had hardly yet become rehabilitated, most of them having been under carpet-bag rule, during which time the college scrip fund had been altogether lost or stolen in one or two States. For this reason there was no necessity for Governor Smith's hasty and unwise as well as unauthorized action and it is the opinion of the writer that if Gov. Smith had known that Congress had made the extension mentioned he would have refused to sign the order alluded to and awaited the action of the legislature upon the subject. The legislature was to assemble in a very few weeks, July 15, and under the act of Congress of July 2, 1862, the General Assemblies only of those States which might accept the land scrip, with the conditions annexed in said act, could establish the colleges provided in the same. Governors could do nothing in the premises unless authorized to do so by the legislatures of the several States.

Governor Smith's action has entailed upon the State a great deal of trouble. The great body of the people were dissatisfied with the disposition of the matter by the Governor at the time. Almost every legislature since 1872 has had something to do with it, and up to this time it has proven a sort of Pandora's box. The farmers of the State have refused to favor it, and although the University of Georgia still retains the fund the legislature has never passed an act defining, locating and establishing Agricultural colleges in this State, though frequent appropriations have been received for the support of those in operation, and even now while this chapter is being written a bill is pending in the Georgia legislature to remove the College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts from Athens to the Experiment Station at Griffin, but this course will hardly be adopted unless the legislature can donate other monies to the support of the State University in lieu of the Land Scrip interest. As the No. 10 Georgia Agricultural College always held a prominent place in the legislature that has taken place in Georgia in regard to Agricultural Colleges for the past twenty-three years, I propose to devote the next chapter to a recital of such facts and events connected with said legislation as may be useful and interesting to the readers or which may be necessary to perpetuate.

In a subsequent chapter I shall inform the reader how the North Georgia Agricultural College became a department of the University of Georgia. The contract between said Institutions has been faithfully adhered to by the Trustees of the N. G. A. College, both in letter and spirit, and what has been, or may hereafter be written on this subject, must not be construed to mean that there is any desire upon the part of any trustee now living to disrupt the contract made nearly a quarter of a century ago. If it should ever be abrogated it must be done by the legislature of Georgia, which body alone can do it, unless it should be violated by one or both of the parties which made it. (To be continued.)

W. P. PRICE.

The Nugget appears again this week as a half-sheet. This is the last half-sheet, however, that we will have and the Nugget will hereafter appear full size, with some new and interesting features. We will publish from time to time the pictures of some of our leading citizens with a sketch of their life following. The first will appear next week—the picture of Col. W. P. Price—our distinguished representative in the Legislature. In the meantime, those who are desirous to grapple with the Nugget's shortcomings are requested to pay up and have their names dropped from our books if they don't like our style.

LOCAL LINES.

Dr. and Mrs. Jones and son Charlie visited Atlanta and took to the Exposition this week.

G. M. Stanley, of Jackson, Mich., is issuing a book in which he jumps on Dahlonega with both feet.

The Phi-Palaestra office is located in the Negget building where the students and their friends are always welcome visitors.

The Nugget is in daily receipt of inquiries from the North and West about our mineral and farming lands. It would pay those who have such lands for sale to advertise them with us.

More building and improvements have been done in Dahlonega in the last six months than in six years previous, and still goes bravely on. This certainly indicates a railroad whether we get it or not.

It was amusing the other morning to hear a student bemoaning the loss of Maryland and other Eastern States to the Democrats to Capt. Hall. Evidently the young man didn't know Capt. Hall was a Republican who was keenly enjoying the Republican victories.

Mr. Jennings, the proprietor of the "Glades," has recently bought a thousand or more acres of land and added it to his already large territory. Mr. Jennings and Mr. Baldwin are associated together in the Dahlonega Railroad. Another straw that indicates that the land is sure to be built, as it is surveyed to pass near the Glades.

Our esteemed friend, W. L. Agnew, of Adrian, Mich., sends us a renewal of subscription, and takes occasion to speak a kind word for the Nugget, for which he has our thanks. If this world had more such noble-minded men in it to brighten the dark places it would be better off. Our friend Agnew is all right. May his shadow never grow less.

The Atlanta Exposition is doing a great work in opening the eyes of our Northern friends to the true greatness of the South and giving them an insight into her wonderful possibilities. The effect will be magical and in a few months the tide of emigration southward will begin. In fact it has already begun. What a pity it is that Lumpkin county has no exhibit there to direct the attention of investors and home-seekers this way.

Considerable uneasiness is felt here over the scarlet fever which is reported to be almost epidemic in Gainesville. The report is that the fever has broken out afresh there and that many new cases are developing. Judge Gaston's baby was thought to be dying of this dread disease Wednesday. The disease is of a virulent type and several deaths have already occurred. There is talk of quarantining against Gainesville until the disease abates.

Col. W. S. Basinger, of Athens, spent a day here this week looking after his real estate. Col. Basinger was the former distinguished President of the Faculty of our college, in which position he won the love and esteem of all who admire true manhood. In the classic city Col. Basinger is practicing law and is meeting with success. His Dahlonega friends were glad to see him, and hope the day will speedily come when his city and Dahlonega will be linked together with steel rails.

"Grippe" capsules at the Drug Store may cure you.

Mrs. J. H. Baker and son and Mrs. Dr. Wheelchel went to Atlanta Wednesday to see the Exposition.

A pleasant surprise in the shape of a "housewarming" at the editor's home on Murray Heights was an event much enjoyed by those present Tuesday evening.

Misses Minnie and May Cartledge left yesterday for Atlanta to see the great Exposition. Before returning they will visit relatives in Washington.

Pocket knives an assortment of 20 kinds at Drug Store.

Judge Baker took in the Exposition last week, or rather the Exposition took him in. The Judge says it's great.

Andrew Stevens, colored, who has been in Gainesville nursing scarlet fever patients, came back to Dahlonega Tuesday afternoon. He was taken in custody by the city marshal who is holding him in isolation at the county prison, fearing that he will spread the contagious disease in our midst.

Take your produce to B. D. Langford, Gainesville, and get all kinds of groceries and dry goods at almost cost.

The citizens mass meeting called for to-morrow (Saturday) night should be largely attended, and the ticket named should be composed of good citizens who will take into consideration the welfare of Dahlonega in the discharge of their official duty. Our people should rise above political prejudices and petty jealousies in choosing city officials, and especially for the coming year, as it is more than likely that intricate problems will have to be dealt with by the incoming council, brought about by the building of a railroad to our city, and the establishment of city schools, etc. Let everybody go to the meeting and leave their politics and petty spites at home.

AMONG THE RETIREES.

Ellijay Courier.

Editor Tom McKinney has returned from Atlanta where he has been undergoing medical treatment and is greatly improved in health, and is now once more at the helm of the "Post."

Editor Perry, of Canton, is becoming much interested in mines and minerals. We hope he won't get to be a goldbug.

Editor McNelly of Dahlonega, has moved into his new house and is as happy as a big sun flower.

Editor Clayton, of Jasper, it is said has a Senatorial bid standing in his tall hat. Mr. Clayton boasts a high in the community and has a strong pull with the boys in Pekens.

Editor Turner says he believes the Republican Party to be corrupt. We hope that while the present crop of fresh chestnuts is out that Editor Turner will not force his last years chestnuts on us.

If the public only knew how little the average country editor knows about the great economic question of the hour, the public would buy the average country editor a Cyclopædia. (We haven't got a Cyclopædia ourselves.)

THE DAHLONEGA RAILROAD

May not come to Gainesville, but the Lumpkin county people will come just the same to get their goods from me. I sell cheaper than the cheapest, and the "wagon trail" all know where to come. All kinds of produce bought at highest prices. Come to see me. B. D. LASSER, Gainesville, Ga.

CALL FOR CITIZENS MASS MEETING.

The citizens of Dahlonega are requested to meet at the court house en masse on Saturday night Nov. 16th, at 7 o'clock, to select a ticket for Mayor and Councilmen at the ensuing city election, and to discuss other matters of importance to every voter and tax-payer in Dahlonega. Every citizen of the town, irrespective of creed or color is respectfully urged to be present and take part in the meeting.

J. V. HARRISON, Mayor.

B. D. Langford, the Gainesville barman, gets more trade from Lumpkin county than any other merchant in that city. Why? Because he sells the cheapest. Call on him and see his goods and get prices.

Love in a cottage will do it if the cottage is mortgaged.—Exclamation There is nothing in that says the Albany Herald. If the lovers are true, and if the mortgage is a honest debt, there is no reason either in the laws of nature or by the rule of common sense why there shouldn't be more genuineness in the mortgaged cottage than in usually to be found in the palaces of millionaires. The honest man can derive great pleasure and find a happiness that is satisfying in paying off the mortgage. Mortgages are not essential to happiness in a cottage any more a barrier to it, but the honest man can derive real pleasure in the requirements of the wherewithal to pay his creditor. Love is all right even in the cottage that is mortgaged, if the lovers are true, persevering and honest. The mortgaged cottage is not to be despised and shunned as an harbinger of woe and misery. It has sheltered many an honest man while he laid the foundation of future wealth and greatness.

NOTICE TO TAXPAYERS.

Notice is hereby given that the tax books for the town of Dahlonega will close on the 15th day of November, 1895, and all who have not yet paid their municipal taxes are requested to pay at once and save cost. After that date if a tax will be issued against all delinquents. By order of the Mayor and Town Council. J. B. ANDERSON, Marshal.

This October 8th, 1895.

The recent discovery of Mr. Wilson, of acetylene gas from lime and coal dust treated with electricity from carbon electrodes, has made it possible to produce ethyl alcohol so cheap that all other processes will be abandoned. Should this discovery prove to be what is expected, alcohol will be made for two or three cents a gallon, or even less. Its uses in the arts will be largely increased, and as a beverage it could be cheapened to an enormous extent. The occupation of distilling will be superseded, and the manufacture of whiskey and other alcoholic beverages will change, and the great problem which center about them commercially, scientifically and socially, will have new features.

Polk County furnace is turning out excellent material and with a long campaign of melting, there is no reason that the company shall not realize a handsome sum to partly reimburse for the great outlay of money used in the preparation for the industrial enterprise.—Ducktown Gazette.

NOTICE TO TEACHERS.

I will hold a general examination of applicants for teachers' license at Dahlonega, Ga., on Friday, the 6th of Dec., 1895.

The questions on theory and practice will be taken entirely from Payne's edition of Page on Teaching.

Public schools for 1896 will open the 1st Monday in January and continue for 30 days. Teachers will then close until summer term. If any teacher should violate this order by not teaching the fifty days as above stated the time is entirely lost. J. M. McGraw, C. S. C.

THE EXPOSITION.

An excellent place to stop at when you visit the exposition is corner of Houston and Hilliard streets. Cars run in front of the doors to the Exposition grounds every 20 minutes.

MRS. ANNIE COLLIER.

STALK FOR YOUR TOWN.

Stick to your town. It is only a collection of cabins, stand by it and pick out its most attractive features when speaking of it. Your share of the universe amounts to the place where your days are spent. Your city is the best of all cities, your people the foremost of all people. Talk it, preach it, teach it, till the world believes it, and if you are in any way doubtful you will soon get to believing it yourself.

Speak up for your city. No matter where you are, pull for the place where your home is and where your friends are. That is the secret of progress. You can find plenty of objectionable features about any city. Make yourself as nearly oblivious as possible, to the shortcomings of your own.

Remember that your people are the people that you know best. As a matter of course you are more familiar with them than you are with those of strangers with whose shortcomings only you become acquainted.

Paint out the scars when you draw a picture of your home folks. Leave out the blot when you chart your surrounding. If you practice a healthy, appreciative sentiment is speaking about your own environments you will soon forget your cynicism and your home will become what it should be, the fairest spot on earth.

Stick to your own city. Make it—roundness is the most agreeable, its scenes the most beautiful, its location the most admirable, its resources the nearest inexhaustible, of all the places in the world.

Preach it, believe it and impress it upon others. You will be happier by cultivating such a spirit of patriotism. Your friends will like you better, your association will be more agreeable, your work will please you better if you stick to your city and your people. So says the Rome Tribune, and the Marietta Journal reiterates it.—and so does the Dahlonega Nugget.

Every man endowed with common sense and reasonable health has a competence within his grasp, if he is only willing to pay his price. To do this he need not be as cunning as Jay Gould, nor as stingy as Russell Sage, but he must both earn and save. If he earns little he must save a portion; if he earns much he must save much. It is better to have a ten per cent, faculty for saving than a one hundred per cent, faculty for earning without it. A competence does not require great self sacrifice—great wealth requires parsimony and a heart of iron. We have abundant example of these.

The Greenville Banner says a milkman there "turned his drove of cows in a second growth sorghum patch and they either partook of the sorghum too freely or there was something poisonous in the patch. Anyway ten of them were found dead, and the balance are not expected to live." If a cow is kept on dry feed and then fed a green sorghum patch, she is a gone cow skin sure, at least that is what those say who claim to know.

Innocence is like a flower which withers when touched, and blooms not again, though watered with tears.

The D. S. C. & T. Co. in addition to its copper industry is mining and shipping about 8 to 10 carloads of iron ore each day. It is said that the work will be increased in the near future.—Ducktown Gazette.

As a non-conductor of cold there is nothing to equal paper. It has not the same qualities in regard to heat but for warmth in the winter paper underclothing would prove just as satisfactory, if not more so than woolen ones. During their late campaign the Japs wore paper underwear all during the winter months. Paper is also recommended as a specific for rheumatism.

The Jump Sentinel gets off the following jokes: "One of our farmers relates a story that caps the climax. He says the pigs had been getting in his field, and he conceived the idea of putting rocks on them. He did so, and says that they learned to crawl in backwards and pulled the yoked off over their heads."

LAND SALES IN GEORGIA.

The fruit development in Central Georgia and the peach carnival at Macon are very effectively directing the attention of Northern fruit growers and farmers to that section. Mr. George W. Duncan, of Macon, has sold 2000 acres of land near Macon for $33,000, to a purchaser from Ohio. He has a number of other sales under negotiation. The famous Wadley plantation said to be one of the finest in the State, at Rogers, on the Central Railroad near Macon, has also been sold, the purchaser being Mr. D. Gammon, of Chicago, who represents a syndicate of Western capitalists. The plantation will be cut up into small farms, which will be sold to settlers from the North and West. Mr. Gammon, it is stated, has been for ten or twelve years interested in fruit-growing in California, but on a recent visit to Georgia was so impressed with the fruit-growing capabilities of this region that he decided to engage in some operations here. Besides the colonization business the syndicate he represents will also engage in fruit growing on a large scale.

Georgia Hardeman Atkinson is the name given to the little girl who arrived in the Governor's household a few days ago.

The demand for iron is so active in the south that there is no accumulation of stocks, and capitalists are making preparations for the erection of new furnaces. Last year southern iron-masters were trying to find buyers in foreign markets. This year they cannot fully supply the home demand.

See What We Now Propose to Give You

We will send you the Nugget and The Atlanta Weekly Journal twelve months for $1.10. You know what the Nugget is and you know you ought to have it. Local pride, if nothing more, should convince you of this. You will appreciate the Weekly Journal. It is good now and it is getting better every week. It gives the news of the world in attractive style. It is reliable.

It contains special features that will please every member of the family. It will make the home brighter and happier. It is ten pages, every page running over with interesting matter. The Juvenile Journal—one of the brightest of children's papers—comes as a part of it, without extra charge. Show your good judgment by sending or bringing us $1.10 for twelve months' subscription to the Nugget and the Atlanta Juvenile Journal with its cheery Juvenile Journal thrown in.

The Valdosta Times says a party went to serenade a farmer named Cole on New Year's night. The other night and when they left for their homes, Cole's horse was found dead in the lot. It is supposed that the horse had been diseased and that it died from fright.

It now appears doubtful as to whether or not we will be able to get a correct statement of the number of people who attend the Exposition, so we change our plan of guessing to the following:

We have placed a Glass Jar in our Store and filled it with Peas. Now you can see the Jar and guess how many Peas it contains. All who have guessed at the Exposition will please call and change their guess to this one. Contest will close on December 24th at 12 o'clock noon, guesses will be announced and cash paid out. Every $5.00 purchase entitles you to one guess, and a Webster Dictionary free.

We will pay in cash.

$50 FOR THE NEAREST CORRECT GUESS.
$25 FOR THE SECOND NEAREST CORRECT GUESS.
$10 FOR THE THIRD NEAREST CORRECT GUESS.
$5 FOR THE FOURTH NEAREST CORRECT GUESS.

A GUILTY COUPLE

John T. Alexander, a well dressed white man about 28 years old, was arrested last week in Moon and placed in jail. He was put there by virtue of a warrant sworn out by J. D. Philway, an enraged husband, charging him with adultery.

Tuesday night of last week Alexander left Philadelphia, Miss., in company with Mrs. J. D. Philway, and her little ten year old boy. They arrived in Athens Friday night and stopped at a boarding house registering as man and wife.

Nothing was thought to be wrong with them until the receipt of a telegram ordering the arrest of Alexander.

Alexander was at once arrested at the Seaboard Air-Line depot. He cowered up to the officers, but said the woman last and persuaded him to let her accompany him to Georgia, as her husband had mistreated her.

While sitting in the office of the chief of police, Alexander was suddenly confronted by the injured husband. Philway had made up his mind to kill Alexander and would have done so had he not been seized by the police. He said Alexander they had him now when he couldn't do anything to him, but that he had come to carry him back to Mississippi, and when he got there the boys would take care of him.

Mr. Philway was interviewed as to the affair and told the following story:

"Eight years ago I married Miss Soule Gunn, the daughter of Rev. I. E. Gunn, one of the most prominent ministers in the state of Mississippi. We lived happily together and to us have been born four children, two little girls and two little boys, the youngest being in Athens with his mother.

"I always treated my wife kindly and she was to me a model one. No man ever had a better wife than I, up to last week when this terrible occurrence happened. All is now dark before me and my life is ruined. We lived in Nebraska county, Miss., and for some time I was postmaster at North Bend, my wife being assistant. I was a merchant and farmer. Near as lived John T. Alexander, who ran a public gin. He is a married man.

"I never had any suspicion of my wife until Sunday one week ago. On that night it appeared to me that she was trying to have a private conversation with Alexander, and I mentioned the fact to her and she asked me for being jealous.

"Monday I had to go to Meridian on business and left, little dreaming of the wrecked home that was to follow. Tuesday night my wife and little boy were taken off by Alexander, and the next day I was notified by friends of what had occurred. I hastened to follow them. Over five hundred men wanted to go with me and mete out punishment to the home destroyer, but I finally turned them back. I followed the couple and traced them from place to place. Interviewed some gentlemen at each hotel where they had stopped as man and wife and was told that my wife had been heard crying in her room and begging Alexander to send her back home. I came straight on after them and found them here in Athens. If I had met Alexander I would have killed him at sight, but when I saw him I was in the hands of three policemen.

"I want my wife to go back to her father's home. I will never have her again, but if she be true to me I will support her to the balance of her days in remembrance of the many years she made me a faithful wife. She can see her children from time to time, but I propose to have them and take care of them."

Mrs. Philway was almost hysterical at times. She admitted doing wrong, but said Philway had been drunk, but that he was cross and crabbed. She seemed to be perfectly infatuated with Alexander.

When the officers carried him to jail she declared that she would be willing to die if she could see him for just five minutes. She subsequently wrote a note to him filled with endearing terms and sent him some money that belonged to him. She declared that she had nothing to live for and that just as soon as she could do so she proposed to take her own life and end her misery.

She finally consented to go home with her husband, who is going to carry her to the home of her father. Close watch was kept upon her to prevent her from taking her own life.

The little babe was made comfortable in the city attorney's office, and it lay there little knowing of the terrible blight that had been cast over its innocent life.

Mr. Philway swore out a warrant charging Alexander with adultery. He will send back requisition papers for Alexander as soon as he is arrested. Philway left this afternoon for his home accompanied by his wife and baby.

A VICTIM OF MEAN WHISKY.

Last Wednesday evening Frank Wheeler and H. L. Dennis, two harness makers who had been at work for some time for McCurry & Lumsden, started to Atlanta on foot, both in an intoxicated condition. After they got about two miles above here Dennis became so sick that he could not travel, and they stopped in the woods. Wheeler built a fire and made Dennis as comfortable as he could under the circumstances. They remained there Wednesday night, all day Thursday and Thursday night, Wheeler sitting up and doing all he could for Dennis, until Friday morning just before daylight, when Dennis became quiet and said he felt better. Wheeler was so nearly exhausted from loss of sleep, that he took a nap. The early morning breeze coming along, awakened him and he called Dennis. Receiving no answer he tried to arouse him by shaking him, when to his horror he found him dead. He at once notified the nearest resident and came back to Fairburn and notified the Coroner. An inquest was held Friday evening and the verdict of the jury was "that he came to his death by drinking mean, blind tiger whiskey to excess." His remains were brought to Fairburn and prepared for burial and were sent to Marietta, the home of his brother-in-law, Mr. L. S. Cox, for interment.—Campbell County News.

BORN WITH SCALES.

Miss Lizzie Sheets, 60 years of age, who is dying near Rochester, Ind., has been a hermit for the past 40 years, owing to a deformity at birth, which was characteristic of other children born to her parents.

There were three girls and one boy, and at birth each showed a covering of distinctly marked scales over all parts of the body, the face, neck and hands of each being more thickly covered than other parts of the body.

The scales were comparatively soft, and of a delicate flesh color. As the children grew up the scales of the exposed parts of the body became hard and firm and of a darker hue.

Miss Lizzie is the last member of the family. When 10 years of age she became so sensitive concerning her condition that she refused to be seen by any one, and has lived a secluded life ever since. She did nearly all the work upon the farm herself. When she hired a man, her communications with him were always from a room where she could not be seen.

The report of the commissioner of internal revenue, made recently, shows that in Georgia almost one-third of the illicit whiskey distilled in the United States last year was made. Of 1,572 stills destroyed, 471 were in Georgia. North Carolina was a close second with 432. It seems that W. H. Chapman, the revenue agent, paid out $8,573 in the Georgia district to informers. The receipts from Georgia last year were $793,417.

CONDITION OF CROPS.

General Summary of Conditions Throughout the State.

THE CONTINUED DRY WEATHER.

It offers the Farmers a Good Opportunity to Gather Their Cattle—The Largest Crop of Corn Ever Made in Georgia—Peanut and Poddy Mightily Injured—A Very Large Yield of Potatoes.

The dry weather of September, has continued through this month, offering to the farmers of the state, as fine an opportunity to gather their cotton in good condition, as I have ever known. They have availed themselves of this opportunity, and with the incentive of good prices, every acre has been given to the gathering of the cotton crop. It was being reported in the newspapers, that in some counties, picking has been carried on by moonlight. In north and southwest Georgia, the crop is practically gathered, while in middle and upper Georgia picking is still being pushed vigorously, and the crop will very soon be all home. In some counties the crop is turning out better than was expected in others worse, and on the whole I see no reason to change my August estimate of the crop—viz. three-fourths of last year's yield, as a maximum.

I repeat the advice I gave last month about cotton seed—viz. do not sell at 10 or 15 cents a bushel, but when in making your contract, keep in mind the fact that the crop will very soon be all home. In some counties the crop is turning out better than was expected in others worse, and on the whole I see no reason to change my August estimate of the crop—viz. three-fourths of last year's yield, as a maximum.

easy, rapid growth. You can of course use the same bring over and over again. Now don't say that it is a much trouble, and go ahead sowing weed seed, smutty wheate. There is nothing to be had in this world without trouble and labor, and in this case the resulting benefit is more than compensates for the labor given.

Another way to prevent smut in wheat and oats, is to immerse the seed five minutes in water at a temperature of 125 to 140 degrees. Dry before sowing. This treatment seems to kill all the smut germs, without injuring the vitality of the wheat.

Quarantine 6.—Shall I plant oats now or would it be better to wait until after Christmas?

Answer 6.—There is a difference of opinion among farmers on account of the danger of cold killing the crop it is better to wait until after Christmas. Carrying out this theory to its ultimate conclusion, there would be no oats planted until all danger of severe cold was past. Oats planted in the Christmas season would yield well some years, notably so this year, when even March sowing in most cases made a good crop. But as "one swallow does not make a summer," neither does the result of one year's crop establish a precedent by which we should be guided. Our farmers have been in such financial straits for some years, on account of the low price of cotton, that as a rule they could not afford to run the risk of having their oats killed, and the consequence has been a general resort to spring planting.

In my opinion this is a mistake. Oats should, if possible, be planted the last of September or the first part of October, and if planted at that time with a turn plow on fair land they will not be killed more than one year in five, and the total of the four crops that escape the cold will be much greater than the total of spring planted crops. If the crop cannot be planted at the right time, then put it in as soon as you can, whether it be in November or December, for as most of our cold comes in January or February, the oats sown in November or December will be older and better rooted and therefore harder to kill than oats sown in January.

Another point of view of fall sowing is this: Should the first crop be killed, as this year it is, and the second crop is sown on the same land by reason of the land being plowed and then immediately plowed by the wind, would probably result in a crop sufficient good to pay for the cost of both sowings.

Another plan followed by some good farmers is to put in, during the fall, half the land they intend to sow, reserving the other half for spring planting. There are some advantages in this plan, but on the whole, I believe it is best to sow oats in this state about the first of October, or as soon thereafter as is practicable.

Quarantine 7.—There are many ways to destroy corn after it is in the field.

ANSWER 7.—During many years of planting in southwest Georgia the weeds annually destroyed a large percentage of the corn crop. It is important to know how to save it from the ravages of the weed. The blight of corn, properly applied, will destroy all weeds in the field after the corn is in the field, and it will then keep sound and good until used for seed.

The preventive is simply and easily applied, and is better done after the corn is all put in the field, than making different applications after every few loads. If the corn is a light one, one pound of the blight to every fifty bushels of corn will be sufficient. If the corn is a heavy one—as most of our corn is—a little more of the blight will be necessary.

The method of using the remedy is very simple, and merely consists of pouring the substance over the top of the pile of corn, when the vapor from it being heavier than air, sinks through the grain, penetrating the entire bulk of corn, and killing all, or nearly all the weeds in the field. This substance is exceedingly inflammable, and no fire of any description, including a lighted pipe or cigar, should be brought near it, until all the odor of the blight has passed away. This will take place in a very few days. The only danger in this method is in the fact that if the corn is not properly covered with the blight, the weeds will be the danger from fire, which can be readily guarded against by ordinary care. I trust that this preventive will be largely used in Georgia this season, and that it may prove entirely successful. It is so highly recommended, and so strongly informed, that, though I have only a few years' experience with it, I am convinced that if properly applied, it will protect corn from the weeds, and every farmer in the state, and particularly in South Georgia, knows what a boon this will be. The blight can be obtained at the drug stores, which should be able to sell it at 25 to 35 cents a pound. The farmer would be glad to hear of the result from farmers, that try this plan. Don't forget that the closer and tighter the crib, the better the result.

There will be some considerable loss among large, in one county, the number for killing is larger than for many years past, and with the abundance of corn, they will be heavier than usual. Many cattle have died in different parts of the state. Another South Georgia has been reported from South Georgia; on one dairy farm in South Georgia, 20 or more cows have died from red water, while others have been reported as dying from various diseases in other parts of the state.

I have no doubt that many of these deaths might be traced to drinking water, which on account of the very dry fall, is apt to be found in most places. As soon as sickness appears among his cattle, the owner should be sure to get them to another place, where he is sure that they can get some pure water, either from a running stream or a well. In many cases this will stop the spread of the disease.
